is this too much or a good summary?

With over 25 years of public safety experience, Jeremy has been involved in many diverse areas of law enforcement, including training and investigations, along with prior tactical expertise.

Jeremy's current assignments include supervising his agency's criminal investigations division, as well as commanding a multi-jurisdictional task force major case team in DuPage County, Illinois. Previously, Jeremy also served as supervisor on a county-wide fire & arson investigation task force.

Jeremy holds a master's degree from Michigan State University and received his undergraduate degree from Benedictine University. He has completed programs and certifications at the Northwestern University School of Police Staff and Command, the Force Science Institute, the Southern Police Institute, and the Illinois Fire Service Institute; along with many hours of in-service law enforcement training. Jeremy's numerous law enforcement certifications include Homicide Investigator, Arson Investigator, Force Science Certification, and Rapid Deployment/Active Shooter Threat/Rescue Task Force Instructor. In addition to his current duties, Jeremy is the department's Axon technology coordinator and Genetec ALPR project manager.

Jeremy is a member of the Illinois Homicide Investigators Association, the Illinois Tactical Officers Association and the International Association of Financial Crimes Investigators.
