Published by Matthew Poppell · June 30 ·

In case you haven't heard, effective July 1, 2022 the new Florida law regarding loud music goes into effect.

Vehicles with music audible more than 25 ft. can now be pulled over and the driver cited by law enforcement.

We want the public to be aware of this change and to get the word out.

Thank you everyone and be safe!

There's more serious things to worry about than peoples music... im sure I'll get blocked again, for this comment, and have to make yet another fb so I can read the crud that's posted! But oh well!

Instead, y'all wanna pick around and be petty! Such as, being ticket happy, following people for no reason, blocking people from the fb page because you don't wanna read the comments, or people to know the truth, or something else!

How can a local pd be able to block people in the community because of a comment or reaction to a post, when that's their way of knowing if something is going on? That shouldn't be legal to do, ya know... freedom of speech? We still have that, right? because it seems like that's the next thing to go!

Why not focus on the hardcore drugs being on the streets, pedophiles at parks, people stealing firearms and other stuff?

Let people enjoy their music at normal times of the days! go do y'all's dirty work and leave the music bs alone!

I'll see y'all on a new account, soon!

Gotta have somethin to bitch about always here's a good idea, stay to y'all's self and let everyone do their own thing. If it's not one thing then it's another

Todd Bell say it louder! 🗣️

CPD finds anything to complain about or write someone up, or even arrest for no good reason! But we won't go there. 🙄 they also don't care if they ruin a child's mindset of police for doing ridiculous things. 😞 CPD has made both my kids scared of all cops now 😞 recently had a run in with a levy cop in inglis over my off road lights. Both my kids had an anxiety attack! 😞 luckily, that officer wasn't a ticket happy officer. He spoke to my kids and let them know that everything was ok and not all cops are bad. I missed getting his name, but he was awesome & deserves a reward!

I'll probably get blocked from this page, again, for this comment 😞

Breydon Roberts they don't wanna do the dirty work. 🙏 they rather have others do that!! 😞😞😞

I agree with you, they need to step their roll up and protect those in the community. Not be ticket happy over some dumb stuff!! Let people be happy and enjoy their music!

I'm so thankful for this! Cars go by my house and the windows and other things rattle! If I can hear the words INside, it's waaay too loud. These kids and probably adults, are going to deaf!
I live just 2-3 blocks from the police station.

If they REALLY liked loud music, they would wear earbuds. I don't care to listen to other people's music.

John D it's a free country tho John so just as you have the right to Bitch about it they have the right to Blair whatever it is in their vehicle as loud as the ear drums can handle it! Capeesh! Questions?

🙏 it's literally their own vehicle and people should be able to do as they please in their vehicle (since they are paying for this said vehicle) as long as they're safe. If people would learn to stay to themselves and mind their business!!

Karen Webster

Cheyenne Thomas seriously? Keep the music in their vehicle then. Wear ear buds. I don't want to hear those vulgar lyrics or have my grandkids hear it.

Cheyenne Thomas homeschooled and protected from that trash talk. I've been next to a vehicle with music so loud I couldn't hear the ambulance coming up behind them. There is no way they could hear it either

Cynthia Brownfield
Cheyenne Thomas it becomes others business when we are sitting at stop lights having our peace invaded by " ho's & bitches & fucking & killing ". Do you understand now Cheyenne how your space became my space ?

Mark Freeland
Cheyenne Thomas I disagree. I don't want to hear loud music when I'm stopped at a light. Bass thumping so loud windows shake. If an individual is so clueless to not realize they are bothering others they need to learn somehow. A nice fat ticket may help

Zach Barron oh so you're going to use liberty and the 1st amendment to justify rude obnoxious behavior that is offensive to the majority. What our about our freedom to not have loud music blasting in a public place. I like loud music too. But I don't think you'd like my music. So I will be courteous and not force it upon you.

Ed Weeks
Cheyenne Thomas you can't stay to yourself when the music is blaring so loud from speakers mounted in the grille of the vehicle that you can't have a conversation in the dollar store parking lot. Literally!

Hide 7w

Wesley Sims
Ed Weeks oh no! Not the good ole quality conversation at the dollar store! Come on, what the heck you talking about there that's so important?! What if I can hear your conversation from 25 ft away?

Cóti Thompson-Edwards
Cheyenne Thomas you're making it hard for OTHERS THAN YOU to hear traffic. You know, EMERGENCY VEHICLES. Not your favorite rapper talking about eating vaginas and snorting drugs. I do NOT need or want my kids hearing that trash regardless of whether or not it's in YOUR vehicle. Go to YOUR home and blare it around your parents. I dare ya. 😏

 Thank you! I don't understand how anybody can handle noise (it quit being music) that loud and not destroy their hearing ability. But, then again, maybe they are deaf.

Chris Sawyer because I don't care to hear obnoxious loud crap booming next to me while I am pumping gas. Nor should I have to. I always ask a person to please lower the volume if they are present. But most of the time they are not even with the vehicle. Why would someone leave noise blaring and walk away unless it is to intentionally annoy others? I think it is rude, inconsiderate and ignorant and I hope some big fines work toward teaching these poorly parented individuals some manners for public behavior.

Unhide 7w

Wesley Sims
Chris Sawyer definitely ridiculous! Probably the person I just had to set behind at Murphy's for 15-20 mins because they wouldn't pull forward after pumping & someone had pulled in behind me. Finally gave up after I washed my windows and checked the tires 🤔
