Hi Kim,
I have the below request from a parent and I wasn't sure how to get him certified copies of the cumm file. Can you offer any guidance on this? Thank you.

Hi, I'm not sure who to contact, but I just got off a long call with Social Security Administration. My children's mother hasn't seen the two of them in well over a year and is living out of state in a long-term mental health facility. She is currently receiving Social Security Disability benefits, and I was informed that her children could also receive some benefit, which would be extremely helpful, given that my younger child is autistic. Both children are in my custody.

Anyway, Social Security Administration office scheduled an appointment for me with a benefits specialist on August 28 at 2:00m, and they indicated that I would need certified school records sent to me for each of my children. They told me that the children's schools will know what to do, when I make this request. I'm not sure if there is someone I need to request this from with the school district, or if I need to request these records from each of my children's schools.

My son, [REDACTED], has been attending Totem Falls since Kindergarten, so thought perhaps it would be best to reach out to his school directly for guidance.

Many thanks.

Regards
