Before the Internet and its trolls, there were LaRouchies, with the most recent example being those posters of the Hitler mustache on PBO. Trumpists and Proud Boys can only hope to aspire to that degree of insanity.

Apparently Lyndon LaRouche has died at age 96. We have no word yet on whether it was the Rothschilds or the Royal House of Windsor

Lyndon Hermyle LaRouche Jr. (born September 8, 1922) is an American political activist and founder of the LaRouche movement

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/LaRouche_movement),^[1]

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lyndon_LaRouche#cite_note-1)[2]

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lyndon_LaRouche#cite_note-2) whose main organization was the National Caucus of Labor Committees

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/National_Caucus_of_Labor_Committees) ( NCLC). He wrote on economic, scientific, and political topics, as well as on history, philosophy, and psychoanalysis

(<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Psychoanalysis>). LaRouche was a presidential candidate in each election from 1976 to 2004, running

once for his own U.S. Labor Party

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/U.S._Labor_Party) and seven times for the Democratic Party

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Democratic_Party_\(United_States\))) nomin ation.

LaRouche's critics have said that he had "fascistic tendencies", took positions on the far right, and created disinformation.^[3]

Another crazy goes to at least one circle of Hell, as we all have at least one favorite LaRouchie story, mine is the guy who wanted me to buy his "nuke the whales" bumper sticker at an airport when it was still legal to panhandle.

Here's some background on LaRouche, but there's a lot more:<https://t.co/jKtv2ELCtf> (<https://t.co/jKtv2ELCtf>)

Eleven days after President Donald Trump's election, Roger Stone, a longtime self-proclaimed GOP dirty trickster and Trump adviser, invited an unusual guest on his short-lived radio show, Stone Cold Truth, and began the interview
(<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QBx6uHA05gg&feature=youtu.be&t=27m34s>) with a question about former President Bill Clinton. "Well, I think the question of Bill Clinton is sometimes confused. Bill was framed," Lyndon LaRouche replied. "And he was framed by the Queen of England."

It was typical fare from LaRouche, the 96-year-old leader of a fascist political cult group that has long pitched a variety of dark conspiracy theories, including his pet notion that a Zionist British aristocratic oligarchy secretly orchestrates world events. The queen has long been a favored villain of LaRouche, who has claimed she presides over the international narcotics trade. He has also accused Henry Kissinger of being a Soviet double agent, and has led a campaign for opera to be sung at a lower pitch. While LaRouche's followers and their wild ideas have been a sideshow for five decades—as they have distributed leaflets and crashed political events—he earned surprising prominence in the 1970s and 1980s, before a 1988 federal conviction for mail fraud sent him to prison for five years.

My only Lyndon LaRouche story is that one time I gave one of his supporters on PSU campus a dollar and he asked me to hold his Lyndon LaRouche for President sign while he went and used my dollar to buy himself a cheeseburger

I genuinely cannot believe Lyndon LaRouche, a man I was convinced would live forever, is dead. This is still the best piece I've read about The Movement <https://t.co/GJUdoWJPLR> (<https://t.co/GJUdoWJPLR>)
