Raytheon was targeted because it is "one of the many US companies that provide technological and material support to the US and Israeli militaries," a representative told KTLA.

"The rally highlights the role of Southern California's technology and trade industries in perpetuating the ongoing apartheid and genocide of Palestinian people by the Israeli government," the representative added.

What appears to be red paint was poured on the Raytheon sign in El Segundo on Nov. 11, 2023. (KTLA)

The protesters called for an immediate ceasefire in the region and for workers and unions to refuse to participate in helping arm the Israeli military.

Aerial footage from Sky5 showed what appeared to be red paint poured on the Raytheon sign, as well as Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department personnel amassing nearby.
